Multicultural Community Ministerial Advisory Committee

*The Multicultural Community
Ministerial Advisory Committee is supported by the Queensland Government to provide advice to the Minister for Multicultural Affairs.*

1126-08 QG-Apr 2008

The Queensland Government is committed to responding to the needs of communities and has established Ministerial advisory councils and committees to provide community input into the development of policies, programs and services for key community sectors.

Ministerial advisory councils and committees draw on the skills and expertise of community members and are comprised of community members with relevant interests and experience.

Members are selected by a panel of experts based on their knowledge and experience within the sector and their networks within the community.

Ministerial advisory councils and committees are formally appointed by either the Queensland Cabinet or the relevant Minister, in this case, the Minister for Communities, Disability Services, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Partnerships, Multicultural Affairs, Seniors and Youth.

Multicultural Community Ministerial Advisory Committee

The Multicultural Community Ministerial Advisory Committee provides advice to the Minister for Multicultural Affairs on emerging issues in relation to Queensland's cultural and linguistic diversity.

The council is comprised of people from a range of culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds.

Each member contributes knowledge and expertise on issues relating to people from a diverse range of ethnic, cultural, linguistic and religious communities. They also contribute extensive knowledge of issues within their respective communities, as well as their own unique perspectives, to the advice provided to the Minister.

The role of the Multicultural Community Ministerial Advisory Committee

The committee provides advice to the Minister for Multicultural Affairs on:

- development and implementation of the Queensland Government's multicultural policy
- issues from meetings of the Ministerial Council on Immigration and Multicultural Affairs
- emerging issues for consideration in multicultural policy development and implementation.

At the Minister's direction, the committee also provides advice on strategies and projects to improve services and programs for people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds.
